Health Through Chiropractic

Terms of Acceptance

When a person seeks the services of a chiropractor, it is absolutely essential to fully understand the objectives of that particular chiropractor.

It is not the goal or intention of Coopersburg Family Chiropractic or of its staff to diagnose, treat, or attempt to cure any physical, mental, or emotional ailments, or to give advice about any ailments.

The only objective of the office is to keep the body as free as possible from vertebral subluxations. We do this because of our absolute conviction that a body is better able to live up to its full potential when no subluxations are present and for no other reason.

I, _____ undertake chiropractic care for myself on the understanding of and agreement with the above scope of practice.
